

UNCALLED-FOR INSULTING TOAST

Offered Governor Wilson,
of New Jersey.

CALLED A LIAR AND INGRATE

By a Man Whom He Had Opposed in Legislative Matters.

THE PROPOSER DRANK ALONE

Seagirt, N. J., July 29.—Characterizing Gov. Wilson as an ingrate and a liar in a toast offered in the presence of a number of officers of the New Jersey National Guard, James R. Nugent, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, has been the target for the strongest kind of condemnation all through the camp of the New Jersey Guard. The assertion was made at a dinner last night, and one officer at least stated to-day that it was only by exercising the greatest self-restraint that he was kept from attacking Nugent on the spot.

The manner in which Nugent made the remark has led several who were present to go to Gov. Wilson to-day and assure him if the story got to the newspapers they were ready to testify to the language by the State chairman.

The Governor had nothing to say about the matter for publication when seen to-night. Nugent was at a restaurant at Avon late last night, accompanied by Bob Delaney, the Atlantic City gambler, and two women.

Before a dining-room full of people Nugent, without any warning, rose from his seat and offered the following toast, the latter part being given in deathlike silence:

"I propose a toast to the Governor of New Jersey, the commander-in-chief of the militia. He's an ingrate and he's a liar. I mean Woodrow Wilson. I repeat he's an ingrate and a liar. Do I drink alone?"

The officers present were dumbfounded. Delaney arose with Nugent, but not another man left his seat at the moment. Delaney saw something was wrong, and instead of drinking the toast, remained standing and Nugent's was the only glass that touched lips.

One member of Gen. Collins' staff got up and left his seat, soon to be followed by three more of them, and a regular army officer who was present. Delaney followed the man who first left his seat and started to say something to him.

The officer cut him short with the remark: "If you start anything, you want to be sure you can finish it."

Delaney returned to the dining-room, rejoining Nugent.

Nugent and Gov. Wilson have not been on friendly terms since last winter, when the Governor jammed through legislation which was remarkably distasteful to the old-time bosses in both the Republican and Democratic parties. He has frequently taken occasion at public dinners since the legislature adjourned to attack the executive's politics.

Delaney achieved fame seven or eight years ago when he went on the ball bond of two gamblers at Atlantic City and the two men jumped their bail. Delaney tried to get out of paying the $8,000 which he had pledged for the men on the plea that he was drunk when he signed the bond and did not know what he was doing.

ANNOUNCED CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

At the head of The Herald's fourth page to-day will be found the announcement of Mr. M. T. Westerfield, of Pleasant Ridge, Ky., who seeks the Democratic nomination for Representative from Ohio county, subject to the action of the convention which will be held here on Saturday, August 12.

Mr. Westerfield is not unknown to the people of our county, as he is a good mixer among the people and has many friends. He is a farmer and school teacher by profession, having followed the latter line of work for the past fifteen years. He has taught in both Ohio and Daviess counties, his last eight-months term being taught at Pleasant Ridge. Mr. Westerfield is 39 years old and was born and reared in this county. Left fatherless to fight life's battles at an early age, he educated himself and provided for his mother and other children. He was an A. S. of E. organizer in Daviess county several years ago, and has been identified with this movement right along. He is a member of the Baptist Church and has finished his first course in Masonry. A wife and two children constitute his family. He is a speaker of splendid ability and a fine type of Kentucky citizen.

Mr. Westerfield asks the voters to give his aspirations a fair consideration.

Huntington, W. Va., July 27.—The desire to have a startling photograph taken resulted in the probable fatal injury of Lawrence Bickler to-day. Before the camera Bickler and his brother-in-law, Joseph Smith, both of Jackson, Ky., posed with drawn revolvers. The exposure completed, the men pulled the triggers of their guns in fun. Bickler fell with a bullet through his head. Smith did not know his gun was loaded.

POOR PREACHER OFFERED
$3.00 FOR HIS PRAYER

Refused to Accept Because It Would Commercial-
ize the Act.

Madison, Wis., July 28.—The Rev. A. Tull, a retired Methodist minister, has lost faith in the Wisconsin Legislature and has returned the check for $3 which he was paid for delivering a prayer in the Senate, with a letter to State Treasurer Dahl, reading as follows:

"I received your check for $3 for delivering a prayer in the Senate. I thank you and the Senate for the courtesy, but return it. It would be purely commercialism to accept $3 from the Senate for asking the favor of the Lord.

"Really, it seems as if the $67 paid for prayer during this session was lost money. As the legislature did such 'rotten' business on all temperance measures, it indicates that not a single prayer reached the Lord for the promotion of temperance, but that He favored the breweries and saloonkeepers. How could prayer for money fail?"

"I have been sunk in debt for sixteen weeks and needed money worse than any of them, but not such money."

AN ABANDONED BABY
FOUND IN TELESCOPE

Lebanon, Ky., July 29.—Two sons of J. N. Wright, living near Loretto, in this county, while on their way home a recent midnight, found a baby boy hanging in part of an old canvas telescope attached to the front gate of Loretto Academy. The boys took the baby home with them and it was brought into town last evening and placed with Jailer Madden.

The child is evidently about a month or six weeks old. The baby was taken from the jail this morning by a wealthy family, who will probably keep it and care for it.

Have Your Soil Analyzed.

Farmers in this county would do well if at certain intervals they would have their soil analyzed to find out in what particular the land is deficient. This analysis can be done at the State Agricultural College. We believe there are farmers to-day in Ohio county who are buying one kind of fertilizer and putting it on land and the same land is starving for a different kind of nourishment. Have the soil analyzed and find out what particular thing the land is deficient in, and supply the deficiency with the proper kind of nourishment.

Wouldn't He?

Now wouldn't a man who couldn't see any taint about Senator Bradley's election cut some figure in putting an end to the doings of the Third House at Frankfort?—(Todd County Times.)

PERPETUITY OF MOTION FOUND BY KENTUCKIAN

He Thinks—Model Has Been Going for the Past Eight Months.

Frankfort, Ky., July 29.—Investigation by a large manufacturing company is being made of what is claimed to be a perpetual motion machine perfected by Noel Hodges, of Frankfort. Mr. Hodges claims that the small model which he has at his home in Holmes street has been running for eight months, without any means of propulsion outside of the power the machine itself generates. He claims that the machine will produce power enough to run an electric fan or small dynamo and he says he has refused an offer of $50,000 for his invention.

Hodges has been working on his invention for years, quietly and without anybody knowing what he was doing, and he has just made public the fact that he has solved the problem of perpetual motion which has driven so many men to the insane asylums during the hundreds of years that the inventors have been struggling with the task. Mr. Hodges says he will not sell for $50,000, although he is poor, for he knows that his invention is worth many times that amount. He says the machine has been examined by experts and they have agreed with him that he had solved the difficult problem of making a machine that will run until it wears out without the use of springs, compressed air or any other motive power.

The invention is a wheel with steel balls at the end of rods on one side of the wheel, the weight of these being enough, Hodges says, to drive the wheel on around. He says he welcomes investigation of the invention and would be glad to have anybody show him any flaw in it. It is probable that scientists from several sections of the country will come to Frankfort to examine the invention and see if it is what it is claimed to be.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE
CLOSES GREEN COUNTY BANK

Too big loans to one man and his partner in business caused the Secretary of State's office to close the Farmer's Bank of Summersville, Green county. The bank has a capital stock of $15,000 and had deposits of $26,000. The bank loaned $10,694.81 to J. S. Mitchell, who is now cashier of the bank, and to the Mitchell & Lyons Lumber Company. These loans, however, were made before Mitchell became cashier of the bank. The bank was closed, it was stated at the Secretary of State's office, because of loose management and too large loans. It is not charged that anybody did anything wrong in connection with the bank. The loans are secured, but it is stated that the security is not known to be sound.

"LOUISVILLE" DIVISION
NOW "KENTUCKY" DIVISION

Announcement has been made that on July 1st the name of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central Railroad Company was changed to the "Kentucky" division. The new division will be under the superintendency of A. H. Eagan, who formerly was at the head of the Louisville division. The change will not annex any new territory to Mr. Eagan's district. It is merely a change of name, and it will apply to what is known as the Evansville division, extending from Henderson to Hopkinsville, including the Uniontown, Dixon and Providence branches, as well as the main line, extending from Louisville to Fulton. The old Louisville division had a career extending over fifteen years.

LARGEST LAND DEAL EVER MADE IN KENTUCKY

Kentonia Mining Company Takes Over 65,000 Acres Rich
Coal Land.

Harlan, Ky., July 29.—What is probably the largest land deal ever made in Kentucky, and one that is of inestimable benefit to Harlan county, was consummated when the Kentonia Mining Company, headed by C. P. Penn, a New York promoter, took over and will develop the 65,000 acres belonging to the Kentonia corporation in Harlan and Bell counties.

The land, which lies in the southeastern part of Harlan county and in the northwest section of Bell, carries some of the best coal seams and most valuable timber in South-eastern Kentucky.

In addition to the above tract the Kentonia Mining Company is acquiring other holdings, and it will soon probably have an acreage of between 80,000 and 90,000 acres. It has just closed a deal with W. H. H. Smith, of this county, whereby it becomes the owner of 5,000 acres of land. The price paid was $250,000.

Although no positive announcement has yet been made to that effect, it is almost certain that within a short time a line of railroad will be built from this place up Martin's Fork and Catron's creek, where it will tap the rich holdings of the Kentonia Company.

The lease of this land is probably the largest deal of its kind ever made in Kentucky, and its consummation is of inestimable value to Harlan county and this section.

The building of the railroad up Martin's Fork will make Harlan the divergent point of three lines of road and will assure its position as the business center of probably the largest industrial section in the State.

HOME-MADE BOILER LETS
GO WITH FATAL FORCE

Owenton, Ky., July 28.—Guy Judy, aged 13, is dead and Warren Woods, aged 18, is not expected to live as the result of a boiler explosion. The boys and their parents live at Monterey, a small town in this county. They constructed an engine and boiler and had been operating it successfully for several weeks. The boiler was made out of a ten-gallon oil can. Yesterday one of the valves quit work and the boys, unconscious of their danger, continued to feed the boiler, with the result that a terrific explosion occurred. Young Judy was killed almost instantly and Woods was badly burned and bruised. At the time of the accident three other boys were present and two of these were burned, but it is not thought seriously.

DEATH REMOVES MR. Y
FROM THE DIRECTORY

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 31.—Yet Y is the name of a man who died here last night, and whose name has occupied the unique position of being the shortest in the city directory for twelve years. Mr. Y was 74 years old, a harness maker, a bachelor and led something of the life of a recluse, rarely mixing with other workmen. He was an Englishman and it is believed that Y was an assumed name, but no one knew of any other or any of his antecedents. He was a genius and invented several devices and is said to have contributed frequently to the magazines.

FARMERS' UNION WANTS
TWO PROGRESSIVE LAWS

The Kentucky division of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America closed a very successful convention at Louisville Wednesday afternoon. The farmers went on record as favoring the initiative and referendum and recall in all matters pertaining to legislation and elections.

The matter was brought up in a report made by the Committee on Legislation, and the clause relating to the initiative and referendum and recall was adopted by a large majority. The committee in its report urged that legislation for the benefit of the farmer be strongly agitated at the next session of the State Legislature at Frankfort. A committee to conduct the special work will be appointed at some future date.

Neither the date nor the place of meeting for the next convention was selected, this matter being left to the Executive Committee, which will meet later in the year.

GOEBEL MURDER SUSPECT
FOUND DEAD IN THICKET

Morgantown, Ky., July 26.—Harlan Whitaker, aged fifty-eight years, was found dead out in a thicket, where he had been cutting bushes, on his farm, about two miles from here. Heart failure caused his death.

Whittaker was arrested and kept in jail about eighteen months in connection with the Goebel murder at Frankfort. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

COMING FROM MISSOURI
TO HELP STATE TICKET

Champ Clark and Former Gov.
Folk To Stump Kentucky
For McCreary

St. Louis, Mo., July 29.—Missouri will send two Presidential candidates to Kentucky in an effort to carry that Commonwealth for former Senator James B. McCreary, Democratic nominee for Governor.

While no formal program has been arranged, friends of both former Governor Folk and Speaker Champ Clark declare the two Missourians will lend their assistance to the Kentucky organization in an effort to wrest the State from Republican control. The Kentucky election will be held November 7.

Advices from Washington say Speaker Clark will take the stump in Kentucky and at the Missouri Democratic League, the Folk-for-President headquarters, it was stated their candidate would give as much time to the campaign as he could spare.

Ollie M. James, of the First Congressional District, is the primary nominee for the United States Senate, the place formerly held by the candidate for Governor. Speaker Clark and James served several terms in Congress together and are personal friends.

Pope Seriously Ill.

Rome, July 28.—It was virtually admitted at the Vatican to-day that Pope Plus is seriously ill, and much concern is felt for him. It is said the pontiff is weak and depressed and breathes with difficulty, owing to the recent attack. He can partake of very little food and has been dieting on milk and eggs.

Correct!

There have been three Republican Governors of Kentucky and the Republican party has been ashamed of the record of every one of them and has only endorsed them as a matter of party necessity. This ought to be a good reason not to elect the fourth one.—(Elizabethtown News.)

RECIPROCITY IS NOW THE ISSUE

In Canada—New Parliament to be Named.

THE DIE IS CAST BY LAURIER

Who Dissolves Parliament
and Calls for Support of His Views

QUESTION FORCED ON CANADA

Ottawa, Ontario, July 29.—In a general election to be held in September, Canada will decide whether she wants reciprocity, held out by President Taft and the American Congress.

Obstruction by the opposition having made it clear that the Government could not bring the reciprocity bill to a vote in the House of Commons, Sir Wilfred Laurier recommended and Governor General Earl Grey dissolved Parliament. Sir Wilfred Laurier announced that the election would be held on Thursday, September 21. Both sides express satisfaction at this prospect of a final test of strength.

If Sir Wilfred Laurier is returned to power, as he confidently expects, Parliament will be reassembled, the reciprocity bill passed and at an agreed date both the United States and Canada will put the necessary tariff changes into effect.

If the opposition wins a majority, which appears next to impossible now, R. L. Borden, its leader, will become Premier, reciprocity will be dropped and Canada will remain a high tariff country, desirous of continuing the present tariff relations with the United States.

These relations were criticized as unreasonable by nearly everybody in Canada until the question became a party issue. Her reciprocity overtures having been rejected continuously since the Elgin treaty was abrogated by the United States in 1866, Canada had given up hope of closer trade relations and was doing very well on her own account.

President Taft realizing the absurdity of such tariff barriers between two countries in which the conditions of life, industry and labor are so similar, held forth the olive branch. The Laurier Government being in power, "saw it first." According to the rule of Canadian politics, this made it necessary that the Conservative party should oppose it. The great financial and manufacturing interests, which have a stake in the continuance of the high protective tariff, rushed to the support of the Conservatives. This encouraged the party's leaders to believe they might turn the Laurier Government out.

In Canada, where the Government retains office by virtue of and only so long as it retains a majority in the House of Commons, the election takes the form of a vote for the members of the House in the 221 constituencies or "ridings" into which the country is divided. If the liberals win, the Governor-General asks their party leader, now Sir Laurier, to form a Government. If the conservatives win, the Conservative leader is asked to assume the reins.

Premier Laurier is quoted as saying:

"The United States Congress, having approved the reciprocity agreement, it is desirable that action without delay shall be taken by Canada."

The Premier feels that the international obligations under which Canada rests to the United States shall be discharged one way or the other without delay.

The commissioners who negotiated the reciprocity agreement pledged themselves and their Government an early action. The United States has performed its part of the agreement. The paramount duty of the Canadian Government, therefore, is to carry out its part of the agreement, and since the opposition has blocked all efforts to secure a vote, the appeal to the country is taken as the most direct means of disposing of the pending question.

The new Parliament will assemble about October 11.

BOARMAN HELD; REARICK IS FREE

Alibi of Alleged Murderer Fails Utterly.

TELLS A FAIRLY GOOD STORY

Of His Wanderings Since the Murder—Went to See Sweetheart.

TESTIMONY OF GEO. REARICK

Hawesville, Ky., July 26.—The examining trials here to-day, before Judge Chambers, of Noel Boorman and of George Rearick, charged with the killing of Bert McCarty, the depot agent at Lewisport, on the night of July 11, resulted in Boorman being held over to the November grand jury and in Rearick being acquitted. The bond of Boorman was fixed at $1,500, which he could not give and he was remanded to jail. Boorman was defended by E. C. Vance, who did all that was possible for him to do, but about the only feature of all the evidence that was in his favor was the testimony given by the defendant.

He told a fairly good story of his wanderings in Christian and Todd counties after the 11th, but he had no supporting evidence, except that of Lum Kennedy, of Henderson, who said he saw and drank with him in Henderson, and saw him get on a train there in the evening, bound for Crofton, for which place he had previously bought a ticket and had his baggage checked.

The story told by Boorman of the happenings in Christian county on Tuesday night and Wednesday was quite interesting, as he stated that for a long time he has had a sweetheart at Fruit Hill, about fifteen miles from Crofton. He stated that the girl's father would not allow him to come on the place, so that when he walked from Crofton over to Fruit Hill, reaching there at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, he stood at some distance from the house and attracted the attention of the young woman by throwing a rock at the house.

Following this performance, which notified her that he was in that vicinity, the girl and her mother left the house and entered the woods in which the young man had secreted himself and there they cooked his breakfast and dinner for him and entertained him during the day.

Against this evidence there were three men of Lewisport, who testified that they saw Boorman at the Lewisport depot on the evening of the 11th, and that they could not be mistaken and that they talked with him, or at least one said he talked with him. Then the promised alibi as to Boorman's being in a Crofton barber shop, where he said he was shaved on Tuesday evening, failed utterly. The two men who came from there and who he said would testify to his presence there on that day, testified that they saw him on Friday and not before.

The testimony of George Rearick was most emphatic that he saw Boorman near the scene of the tragedy and that he hurried away, and then others told of tracks similar to those Boorman would have made going in the direction which Rearick said he went.

The only time that there was the slightest stir in the court room was when County Attorney Higdon answered E. C. Vance, who objected to the heavy scoring that Mr. Higdon made, saying: "Yes, I know it burns deep, but I can't help that. I am merely trying to get to the facts." A burst of applause followed this speech, but Judge Chambers, half rising from his chair, silenced it almost instantly and told the Sheriff to endeavor to locate those who had applauded, so he could deal with them as the law prescribes. None of the offenders was located.

Judge Chambers said all the features of the case were not plain to him, but that the preponderance of the evidence was against the man, and he thought every opportunity would be afforded him by November to prove the statements he had made, if that were possible. County Attorney Higdon was alone in representing the Commonwealth.

After the Judge decided to hold Boorman, Mr. Higdon said he had nothing different from what had been heard in the Boorman case to bring against Rearick and the Judge then said he could not be held and on motion of Mr. Higdon he was dismissed. Rearick was represented by J. D. Kelly.

SAYS IT IS THE WICKEDEST CITY

In the Whole World, Bar-

IRKUTSK, SIBERIA, THE PLACE

Annually Produces Five Hundred Murders, With Only Ten Arrests.

HOW TWO AMERICANS "SAW" IT

There is no doubt about it—this is the wickedest city in the world! One would hardly come to Irkutsk for a rest cure. With a population of 120,000 persons crammed into a couple of square miles on a bend in the Angara river, it produces 500 murders a year, with an average of one arrest for each 50 killings. And for each ten arrests there are but five convictions. This is not buncombe; it is a transcription from the city's criminal records. In one day this month there were 22 murders and attempted murders within the city limits!

Irkutsk is pretty gay at nights now, but the citizens look back enviously to the zenith of its career in the days of the recent Japanese war. Then champagne and wines were often cautiously transported free of freight charges from St. Petersburg and Moscow in steel cars labeled "Powder"—cars militant with painted imperial eagles and Cossack guards. A Colonel of one regiment openly boasted in the Hetropole restaurant the other night that more champagne was drunk in Irkutsk in one month during the Japanese war than is sold on Broadway, New York, in half a year.

The fun at Irkutsk starts at midnight; the city is as dead as a Sunday an hour before. Then the moving picture shows, of which there are three to a block on the Bolshoi-skala, spin off their last films and the officers and mining engineers—for all the world goes to moving picture shows in the towns of Siberia—crowd into the restaurants.

You enter a pair of swinging doors, kick off your felt snow boots, hand your furs to an attendant, and pass into a long room thronged with diners, gay with the uniform of the garrison, and women in smart Parisian costumes. At the far end is a small stage on which a score of girls in a minimum of skirt and a maximum of smile go through fatuous double shuffles and dances executed with a degree of incompetency that would bring a blush to the damask cheek of a Bowery sourette. A turn finished, the performers or singers skip down to mingle with the audience, scattering around the tables and ordering the costliest fruits and rarest wines that the management surpasses itself in providing.

Here, too, the sons of Uncle Sam keep the old flag flying. Last year there were, for instance, the young Harvard graduate of a burg in the north of Pennsylvania and his friend, the clergyman's son. They sojourned here for three hectic weeks, spending $25,000 in our hotel during that time. The Harvard man disbursed $1,000 in one day, and another day had $2,500 stolen from his person. The parson's son always kept, and showed good sense in the keeping, a loaded Browning in one hip pocket, but he spoiled this display of prudence by keeping a wad of 20,000 rubles ($10,000) in the other to clinch, by the ready-money lure, any rich bargain in mines that he might chance to run across.—[Irkutsk Cor. New York World.]

Nothing Doing.

The bill collector had made another call at the humble dwelling of Bernard Palissy.

"Is your husband at home, madam?" he asked.

"Pottering around as usual, I suppose."

There being no broomstick or other piece of wood in the house, the indignant woman chased him out with a flatiron.

Seemed to give Him a New Stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes W. H. Youngpeters, editor of the Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

A well known Des Moines woman, after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

HAD WIFE ARRESTED FOR ENTERING HOME

Columbus, Ind., July 29.—Stephen N. Davis, a wealthy retired business man, caused the arrest here to-day of his wife on a charge of malicious trespass, after he had locked her out of their home and she had forced an entrance by breaking out a window.

A few years ago a former wife of Davis obtained a divorce from him and $8,000 alimony. A short time later he chanced to meet his present wife, who was his sweetheart in their early youth, but before marrying her he required her to sign a contract that she would demand but $500 in the event of a separation.

Recently the wife decided the sum not large enough, and getting possession of the contract, she burned it. This act started trouble between the couple, which to-day caused the wife's arrest.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. FIGHT AGAINST BENZOATE SODA

By Dr. Wiley Got Him Into Present Trouble.

PACKERS OF EMBALMED BEEF

Trying to Have Him Ousted for Working Against Their "Business."

TAFT IS AGAINST DR. WILEY

(By Clyde H. Tavenner, Special Washington Correspondent of The Herald.)

Washington, July 29.—A remarkable series of facts which have come to light within the last twenty-four hours indicate that packers of embalmed beef are the influences that have been principally behind the plot to have Dr. H. W. Wiley ousted from public service.

Manufacturers of embalmed beef are at present, by virtue of an order issued by the Department of Agriculture, permitted to use benzoate of soda in whatever quantities they may desire. Dr. Wiley not only opposed the issuance of this order, maintaining that the preservative is decidedly harmful in its effects upon the human system, but has worked untiringly to educate the people to the danger lurking in packed meats in which benzoate is used. The result is that several States have passed legislation absolutely forbidding the use of the drug in any quantity whatsoever. Therefore Dr. Wiley has become a standing menace to the embalmed beef industry. "This man Wiley has got to go," was the edict that went out from the embalmed meat manufacturers.

When Dr. Wiley held that benzoate of soda was harmful to the human system, the packers appealed to the Remsen referee board, especially packed with friends of the food dopers, which board very promptly and obligingly reversed Dr. Wiley. The board held that benzoate of soda in small quantities, specified as five-tenths of one gram per day, was not injurious to healthy persons. But when the order was issued legalizing the use of benzoate, no limitation whatsoever was made as to the amount of the drug the packers might use.

Remarkable circumstances attended the issuing of the order letting down the bars to the food dopers. The order was issued on March 3, 1909, and was placed in circulation March 4—the day President Taft went into office. It was signed by George B. Cortelyou, Oscar S. Straus and James Wilson, three cabinet officers, as required by law. Of the three men, two were to retire from office the next day and actually retired before the scope of their order became known.

This order giving Government sanction to the use of the product of benzoic acid meant that we were going back 5,000 years, for benzoic or its products had not been used in the preservation of flesh since the Egyptians stopped embalming their dead.

Chemist Floyd W. Robinson, one of Dr. Wiley's prominent assistants, recently appeared as a witness against benzoate in an action brought by the State of Indiana to prevent the sale of foods containing benzoate, and before Dr. Wiley had a chance to intervene, Robinson's dismissal "for the good of the service" followed.

"Find the influence that was powerful enough to have the three cabinet officers issue the order legalizing the doping of foods," say Dr. Wiley's friends, "and you will learn the identity of the men who have ever since been plotting to have Dr. Wiley ousted."

Since Taft has been in the White House he has invariably opposed Dr. Wiley instead of having co-operated with him in the interests of pure food.

In his decision against Dr. Wiley, in the interest of adulterated whiskey, the President reversed the findings of ex-President Roosevelt, former Attorney General Bonaparte, Chief Government Chemist Dr. H. W. Wiley, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the Remsen board, the United States Pharmacopoeia, the internal revenue bureau of the treasury, the standards adopted by twenty-six States, fifteen of the United States courts, and President Taft's father, the former Attorney General of the United States.

THIRD VICTIM OF CHAIR TO DIE AT EDDYVILLE

Frankfort, Ky., July 22.—Oliver Locks, convicted in Jefferson county of the murder of his wife, will be put to death in the electric chair at the Eddyville penitentiary on August 22. Gov. Willson to-day fixed this as the date for the execution of the court's order and the verdict of the jury. Unless there is some hitch, Locks will be the third man to meet death by electrocution for a crime committed in this State. Shay Penman, convicted in Lincoln county, is the next man to die in the chair. Penman is to be electrocuted on August 5. No application has been made to Gov. Willson for the commutation of the death sentence imposed on Locks, but it is expected that before the time of his electrocution comes, there will be an application asking for commutation of the sentence.

"GRIZZLY BEAR" ENDEARMENTS

Got Simon Randolph Into Much Trouble.

WIFE COULDN'T STAND FOR IT

When Husband's Conduct Towards Girls He Met Became Unbearable.

"BEAR HUGS" NOW FORBIDDEN

Washington, July 28.—The "grizzly-bear hug" and the "grizzly-bear kiss" are forever tabooed by Judge De Lacey, of the Juvenile Court, and any husband who engages in these pastimes is liable to all kinds of punishment.

Judge De Lacey came to this decision when he heard the case of Simon Randolph, husband of Mrs. Clara Randolph, and father of nine little Randolphs, who was charged with nonsupport. Mrs. Randolph, who first took the stand, explained that Simon had failed to support her or the nine little Randolphs, and questioned the way in which he spent his money.

"What do you mean?" asked the Judge. "Is this a suggestion that your husband has wasted his money in frivolous occupation?"

"I don't know about the frivolousness," said Mrs. Randolph.

"Of what do you accuse him?" demanded the Judge.

Then Mrs. Randolph poured out her tale of woe. She says he indulges in the "grizzly-bear hug" and the "grizzly-bear kiss." The "grizzly-bear hug," it seems, is a concoction of yanks and jerks. The "grizzly-bear kiss" is administered by a man on the face of a girl, which he holds tightly with one hand. He implants thereon three fiery kisses, one on the lips and one on each cheek.

"He did this with every girl he met," said the wife, "until things reached such a stage that I had to assert my rights. This 'grizzly-bear hug' and 'grizzly-bear kiss' finally resulted in his leaving home."

Asked concerning his propensities along these lines, Mr. Randolph fervently protested that he was respectable.

"Of course," he added modestly, "I occasionally kiss a few of my wife's friends. I suppose she gets jealous. That's not my fault. I never kissed the girls except in a kind and fatherly fashion."

"Are you a grizzly bear?" demanded the Court.

"I am not," said Randolph, indignantly.

The Court decided that Randolph should pay a weekly allowance of $5 to Mrs. Randolph and the nine little Randolphs.

"You may not be a grizzly bear," said Judge De Lacey, "but until there is positive evidence that you are not, you will be required to support your family. And," concluded the Judge, "this Court wishes it distinctly understood that it disapproves of the 'grizzly-bear hug' and the 'grizzly-bear kiss.'"

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure, the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast that the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. STORY OF THEIR FIRST ICE CREAM

And the Trouble They Had Enjoying It.

SERIOUS MATTER TO ARRANGE

A Notable Incident in the Life of a Kentucky Mountaineer.

DIALECT STORY OF INTEREST

"Sometimes I wished Mrs. Pattee would not talk so much about the ice cream. We all never hadn't had none endurin' our whole lives and the way she went awn about ice cream seemed like we never had really lived.

"Mrs. Pattee was a school teacher from Chicago that was spendin' the summer in our neighborhood, and from what she said I reckon there must be a hundred places or even more in Chicago where they sell ice cream. Every evenin' 'most, in summer, she et ice cream, she said, and it was the nicest stuff you ever got your mouth awn to, and eatin' of it was fashionable, too. Chicago is a lot of times bigger'n Dummer's Ford and Frankfort rolled into one. Some of the boys has been to Frankfort raftin' logs down the Kentucky, and mah old man has been there as a witness in moonshiner trials.

"Yes, Henry has been drug down there to the Federal Court three times as a witness. I bought that carpet thar whar them four hound dogs is lyin' out'n Henry's witness fees, time Bud Leffler and Dave McGrew was tried. Never see why them fellers was ever convicted of makin' whisky. Whisky! Anybody would be ashamed to set sech stuff before company and call it whisky.

"Well, this Mrs. Pattee said we order hev some ice cream. Finally one day Lufe Watterson's wife come by and said Lucy Mason's husband had been down to Dummer's Ford and a man from Lexington had started a drug store thar and that he sold ice cream. Then I jes plumb told the old man to hitch up and git a tin pall and a bucket that would go outside of it and a box to go outside of all, so he could pack ice around in it, and to take some of that money I had put by to buy a family doctor book with and go to the Ford and git the ice cream.

"In co'se of a long and tedious time he came back—next day, it was. He fetched his ice cream into the house, packed in sawdust. We put it down, shoosed the dogs away and sot and begun to unpack the ice cream, when he heard someone holler in the house and there was Mrs. Pattee in the yard.

"I let her into the next room and set down a-huggin' mahsef to keep the disapp'ntment and fidget from bustin' out. Here we was, two pore mountain folks, and Henry had driv all of one night and part of a day to bring home that ice cream and here was this city woman that would have gobbled the whole mess if we had offered it to her. I felt convicted about not bein' hospital and bringin' it out, but I couldn't help mahsef.

"Thar she set, and I knew that the ice around the cream was meltin', for we had got it most unpacked. I could hear pore Henry movin' around an' frettin'. I went in and told him to eat the ice cream, not to wait for me. But he wouldn't. To relieve his feelin's he had took down his gun and was p'intin' it at the wall 't'other side of which Mrs. Pattee was settin'.

"Oh, I wish she was a Tate, so I could go in and shoot her!" said Henry. The Tates was the clan we McDermotts uster hev a feud with, and the feud had played out, mostly because the Tates had played out, too, in the co'se of twenty years of shootin'.

"I went back in with Mrs. Pattee, and she said she was goin' back to Chicago next day and would spend the whole afternoon with me! Just then one of the dogs pushed through the door and left it open, and thar we see Henry prancin' and p'intin' his gun, his face plumb diabolical. "Mercy awn us! Mercy awn us!" said Mrs. Pattee, springin' up. "I don't know why I ever done it, but I said: 'He's gittin' his shootin' things ready, because Cole Henderson accused him of stealin' a shoat pig.'"

"Why—what—would this Cole Henderson come over here to shoot him?"

"Come over here? You don't reckon Henry would go over to any party's house for to be shot? If you're goin' to be shot, always be shot at home," I told her. "Saves lots of bother."

"You couldn't a-helt that woman with a log chain after that. She jes' got up and left, and me and Henry et the ice cream."

"Even if I did get it in a sinful way, so to speak, I dunno as I care. I don't care much about anything now. I've had ice cream. I'd like to see Mammoth Cave, Louisville and the Governor, but I've had ice cream."—[Chicago News.]

WAS AN INSULT TO WEST KENTUCKY REPUBLICANS

Judge O'Rear had things so much in his own hand at the convention that he took the position adopted by so many men when drunk with power, he rode rough shod over all opposition and did not even display the diplomacy which would have stood him much in hand in the campaign ahead.

The wishes of such leaders as Franks and Cox and their friends were ignored, while even our fellow townsman, Postmaster Fisher, was treated with but slight consideration. The elimination of Capt. Ed Farley was a direct slap in the face of West Kentucky Republicans, and when one considers the long years of service which these men have given to the party, it does not either seem a matter of wisdom or justice for them to be thus ignored when participating in party councils.

Mr. Fisher has long been considered a power in the ranks of the Republican party in this section of the State, while Capt. Farley, who is now filling the position of State treasurer, is equally well known as a party worker of influence and ability.

It is true that Judge O'Rear had sufficient strength to take such steps in selecting his ticket as he desired, still there is such a thing as going too far in the spirit of ruthlessness and disregard of the wishes of his opponents, in the closing hours of victory which marked the Republican convention.

Without these leaders the Republican party in this section of the State would be able to accomplish but little and it would have been far the better part of wisdom to have administered at least a measure of consolation rather than to have adopted a course which may result in the elimination of the influence of some strong leaders, or at least to lessen their ability to a marked extent.

It would have been far better for Judge O'Rear and for the Republican ticket as well, to have placated rather than offended an element in West Kentucky which is in position to do much or little in the party's behalf as the spirit moves them.—[Paducah News-Democrat.]

Democratic county convention at Hartford, Saturday, August 12.
Don't forget it.

Mr. Bryan is just now experiencing that portion of his existence which exemplifies the Bible adage that "a prophet is not without honor except in his own country."

Wonder how those Republican papers which have been screaming so loudly against Reciprocity are going to stand for President Taft (whose pet measure it was) next year?

The Princeton Leader must like the Herald's editorial stuff, as it appropriated four articles of this class of matter from our columns last week, without giving a word of credit.

"Kentucky Beauties Bathe in the Briny Deep" is the euphonious headline of an article in the Mayfield Messenger. No doubt there was also a school of male society suckers churning up the water near by.

There can be no doubt that the extension of the county unit law, anent the liquor question, would be a strong and winning plank in the Democratic State platform. Democracy should take a firm stand in the matter and not attempt any straddling scheme.

Barring a few immaterial details,
the Republican State platform is almost a copy of several Democratic platforms that have preceded it in recent years, including the spirit if not the wording of several national affairs of like prestige. As political plagiarists, Republican platform-builders are notorious.

When Judge O'Rear sees nothing wrong—only immaculate innocence and right—in the manner in which Senator Bradley was put into his present place, what headway will he (O'Rear) make and what plans will he adopt to do away with the Third House, so vociferously inveighed against in the Republican State platform?

Mr. E. T. Franks, a well posted and influential Kentucky Republican, repeatedly declared, during his recent speeches throughout the State, that the election of Judge O'Rear would "sound the death
knell of civil liberty in Kentucky."
And Mr. Franks has never retracted that assertion. Has civil liberty any friends among the Republican voters of the State?

It is said that a buzz of consternation went through the convention hall at Louisville when Judge O'Rear delivered himself of that star-reaching eulogy of Col. Bradley's spotless Senatorial record.
Judge O'Rear himself hesitated for a moment, as if appalled by his fatal error, and then proceeded with his speech. Since then, however, the Judge has never modified nor retracted one word of this scandalous utterance which will cost him
many votes in November.

No one of the three Republicans who have occupied the Governor's chair in Kentucky was ever put in the field without a grand clashing of cymbals and furore of voices as to the great reforms they were going to inaugurate, the good they were going to do, and how the great common people were going to prosper under their administration. The same noise is being made now anent the candidacy of Judge O'Rear. But judging the future by the past, what does Republican administration promise in Kentucky?

The cry of the big corporations,
the trusts, and all those immense concerns which manufacture or control the various commodities which people have to buy, is "Let us alone." They say the common people, or the leaders of the common people who essay to defend their interests, have no idea about how a big business ought to be conducted, and therefore they ought to keep still and let the trusts have full sway. Wonder what this country and its people would finally come to, if the big monopolies were really "let alone" for a period of,
say, fifty years?

The strict reliability of the country paper in giving the news, over its city contemporary, which also gives the news, only about six times often, is illustrated almost every day. Being gotten up in such a hurry, the daily paper cannot hope to be always accurate, while the country weekly or semi-weekly has more time and takes more pride in the reliability and accuracy of what fills its columns. The daily paper can generally be depended upon for "the news while it is new," while the weekly loses none of its prestige as a purveyor of news also,
sometimes a little tardy, but generally condensed to more accuracy.

The Hartford Republican, commenting on the political situation and Judge O'Rear in particular,
says:

Our local contemporary in Wednesday's issue contains twenty-four editorials and just one-third of them contain the name "O'Rear," all the rest of these except three, are devoted to the Republican State convention or platform.

We are proud to note that our esteemed contemporary takes such pains in reading and properly clas-sifying our editorial stuff. We never counted 'em, but we'll take the Republican's word for it. We note, however, that our neighbor does not deny anything which was said in the Herald's editorial columns.

The Hartford Republican says:
"We are glad that President Taft gave the Democrats credit for the enactment of the Canadian reciprocity treaty," and adds: "This is as it should be, for a majority of the Republicans in the House voted against it." Then the Republican goes on to predict dire calamities which it says will result. How cute!
How refreshing this undisguised idea that should Reciprocity be found unsatisfactory in any way, all blame for the measure is to be placed upon the Democrats. Yet it remains as an illustrious fact that the bill was introduced by a Republican and a Republican President called a special session of Congress to enact his pet measure. How does this comport with the Republican's political compatibility?

THAT LIQUOR CLAUSE.

Republican spellbinders are making much a-do over what they call the "decided" stand taken in the Republican State platform on the liquor question. Let's see about this. Here is the liquor plank of said platform:

"We demand a compliance with the plain requirement of the Constitution by the enactment of a uniform local option law with the county as the governing unit."

And here is what the Kentucky
Constitution says:

"The General Assembly shall,
by general law, provide a means whereby the sense of the people of any county, city, town, district or precinct may be taken as to whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein, or the sale thereof regulated."

Plainly, the Constitutional clause might be construed or understood in several ways. That the spirit and intent of this clause was to give the people the fullest and freest scope of action in regulating the liquor traffic, no one will deny. The Constitutional provision embraces every foot of land whereon liquor might be sold. Apparently the Republican platform undertakes to construe this to suit itself and the exigencies of political demands, purely, interpreting the clause to mean what it may need to hoodwink

the voters into supporting the Republican ticket under the impression that the liquor clause of their platform is clear and decisive. As a matter of fact, there is no "county unit" mentioned in the Constitutional provision. It embraces all kinds of territory—"county, city, town, district or precinct." Strictly interpreted, it would seem to enlarge rather than diminish the "wet" territory. That it was so intended, would be an injustice to the framers of the Constitution, and yet it leaves open much chance of speculation as to how its terms could be construed into law. Anyhow, the Republican contention that "We demand a compliance with the plain requirement of the Constitution" is deficient in that it does not define what this "plain requirement" is. It is left to the voters to guess.

Let us hope that the Democrats, in convention assembled, will not make such a blunder—will not adopt such methods to deceive. A plain, unequivocal plank should be adopted, specific and clear, carrying out the well known temperance demands of the people in the extension of the uniform county unit law, both interpreting and applying the Constitutional clause with the full-lest force and effect.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arni-tress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal doesn't exist." Only 25c at James H. Wil-

for the Affair Are All Arranged.

Louisville, Ky., July 29.—William P. McDonogh and R. Campbell Kennedy, members of the committee named to select a hall in which to hold the Democratic platform convention August 15, have completed arrangements for the use of the Masonic theater. Henry R.
Prewitt, of Mt. Sterling, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, was the other member of the committee named to look after details incident to the coming convention, but left the matter of selecting a hall to Messrs. McDon-

Delegates to the platform con-conventions to be held throughout the State, August 12.

Robert G. Phillips, of Elizabethtown, secretary of the Democratic Campaign Committee, left Louisville last night for his home. He will remain there several days before re-however, and the work of outlining a campaign will be taken up without delay. It is probable that Rufus H. Vansant, of Ashland, chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, will arrive here early next week. He, former Senator Mc-Creary and Judge Jere A. Sullivan are to name the remaining members of the campaign committee.

Granulated Sore Eyes Cured.
"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes," says Martin Boyd, of Henrietta, Ky.
"In February, 1903, a gentleman
asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers.

Stiffs Not "All In."

The Stiffs and Supples played another game at Centertown last Sunday which resulted in favor of the Stiffs by a score of 13 to 11. After much "chewing of the rag" by the Supples, they were heard to exclaim:
"Like the man that fell out of the balloon, we are not in it." The line-up was as follows:

Stiffs: R. Bishop, c.; S. Bishop,
p.; P. Swain, 1b.; W. E. Ashby, 2b.;
M. Balls, 3b.; Cola James, s. s.; J.
Lake, rf.; J. W. Glascock, cf.; U.
S. Faught, lf.
Supples: J. Tichenor, c.; B. Re-neer, p.; J. Ward, 1b.; Arvin Tichenor, 2b.; S. Baskett, 3b.; Guy Heflin, cf.; Rob Rowe, rf.; S. Mason, lf.

After defeating the Supples last Sunday, the Stiffs played Smart Hollow and the score resulted 8 to 10 in favor of the Stiffs. The lineup was as follows:

Stiffs: R. Bishop, c.; S. Bishop,
p.; Pete Swain, 1b.; W. E. Ashby, 2b.; M. Balls, 3b.; Cola James, s. s.;

J. Ward, rf.; J. W. Glascock, cf.;
U. S. Faught, lf.
Smart Hollow: F. Boyd, s. s.; Jno. Tichenor, c.; R. Ashby, 1b.;
Henry Sherman, cf.; F. Everly, 3b.;
A. Tichenor, 2b.; W. St. Clair, lf.;
O. Sterman, rf.; H. Sterman, p.
We don't think the Supples will want to play any more, therefore the Stiffs will challenge any other team that heads this way. XXX

All Democrats of Ohio county and all other voters, including young men who will be old enough to vote in November who desire to affiliate with the Democratic party in the coming election, are especially urged to attend the conventions on Saturday, August 12, at Hartford, Ky. From the calls you will notice that there will be held three mass conventions at the court house on that day.

At 1 o'clock p. m. the Democrats will organize and select delegates to the Senatorial delegate convention to be held at the Old Inn in Louisville on Aug. 15, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Senator from the Seventh Senatorial District, composed of Butler, Muhlenberg and Ohio counties. At 1:30 p. m. a county mass convention will be held to nominate a candidate for Representative. Then at 2 p. m. a convention will be held under the call of the State Committee for the purpose of selecting delegates to the platform convention to be held in Louisville, August 15.

Through these conventions it is hoped that the sentiment of the Democrats of Ohio county shall be positively expressed, but this can not be done in a proper sense unless the voters generally attend and participate in the convention. Come! G. B. LIKENS, Ch'm'n. Co. Com.

Company H Back Home.

The members of Company H, 3d Regiment, Kentucky State Guards, 53 strong, arrived home about 4 o'clock last Monday morning from a ten-days encampment at Orell. Lieut. C. B. Shown and Sergt. W. D. Gray returned to Orell Tuesday morning where they, with Capt. J. M. DeWeese, qualified as expert shots and were selected as three of forty to remain at Orell this week, at the end of which time the number will be reduced to twenty-five from the different regiments of the State. The 25 making best record during the week will remain eighteen days longer. Capt. DeWeese remained at Camp Orell.

BOY DROPPED DEAD WHILE ON HIS WAY TO SCHOOL

Last Wednesday morning, while on his way to school, but having passed the schoolhouse to do an errand for his mother at a store at White Run, this county, a mile or so further on, little Hagan Gary, the twelve-year-old son of Mrs. Fannie Gary, a widow living three miles south of White Run, suddenly dropped dead. The little fellow and his cousin playmate were running towards the railroad to see a train pass, when suddenly Hagan stopped and said he was out of breath and getting blind. He dropped down on his hands and knees in the road and fell over dead. Dr. Richard Byers was called as quickly as possible and pronounced death due to a weak heart.

Besides his mother, little Hagan leaves three brothers and one sister. His father died about seven years ago. Death seems to have laid a heavy hand on the Gary family. A daughter died last April and four years ago a son was stricken with typhoid fever. He died after being sick a week and two weeks later his sister died of a congestive chill.

The remains of little Hagan were interred in the Gary graveyard on the home place. The whole school and many others attended. He was a bright little fellow, greatly beloved by all who knew him.

MAN CULTIVATES FLIES FOR FOOD

Raises Them on a Great Farm and Says

THEY MAKE NUTRITIOUS GRUB

Queer Ideas of a Man Who Seems to be Posted On the Subject.

RAISES FLIES BY THE BILLION

A fly farmer and a fly farm which produces delicious foodstuffs, actualities here, have become such a success that ordinary cow, grain, snail, frog and catamount farms are likely to wane and a new era in farming begin. Flaubert Marcy, a prosperous farmer of Tidoute Township, on a trip to Mexico several years ago, discovered the commercial value of the fly as an income-producing insect. He was at home at his farm to-day when a correspondent called.

Dinner was being announced and a place was made at the table. During the feast Mr. Marcy related how he came to establish a model fly farm.

"At Lake Mono, in California, I saw more flies in a minute than I had seen in all my life," he began. "There are more than 250,000 known species of flies. Some are large, and dart through the air with the speed of birds, while others are too small to be observed by the naked eye; some feed on decaying vegetable and animal matter; others are parasitic and feed on warm-blooded animals. Nearly all of them are germ carriers, but take one of the worst of the germ carriers—the African tsetse fly, whose sting produces the sleeping sickness. I firmly believe that if medical men would direct their researches and experiments to it they would discover that even the death-carrying tsetse fly could be used to advantage in the cure of insomnia.

"To return to my Western trip. The alkaline lakes in the far West and in Mexico are too dense with salt for fish to propagate in, but a large species of fly, the Ephydra, breeds there in innumerable swarms, billions upon billions of them dropping their larvae on the salt water, whence it drifts to the shores to hatch. In certain seasons Indians will come 50 miles to these lakes and gather loads of the fly eggs, which they dry on their blankets and rub between their hands to remove the shell. When this is done, the meat of the eggs looks like unpolished rice, as you can see.

"Please pass that dish along," Mr. Marcy said to his wife, "and let the gentleman try some of the most delicious dessert he ever tasted."

The dish contained toasted fly larvae, which easily can be mistaken for rice. It was pleasant to the taste, indeed. Mr. Marcy added that analysis had proved it nutritious, with a high percentage of oil and albumen.

"Here," said he, "is another form of the larvae, which we first dry, then shell and grind it into fine flour, with which we make cakes." A sample of the larvae flour cakes, which was called "koochabee," was served with cream, and having the appearance of cornstarch pudding, was passed along, and it possessed the finest flavor of all.

After dinner Mr. Marcy took the correspondent over the farm. Countless billions of flies were humming in chorus in the coops, which are made of finely woven wire, 50 feet long by 40 feet wide and 10 feet high. Inside were billions of the Ephydra fly, some moving in swarms, others clinging to the coops, while millions of dead ones covered the floor. In the center of each coop was a large tank filled with water, on which the flies drop their eggs

by the thousands.—(Tionesta (Pa.) Cor. Washington Post.

SOCIALIST CONGRESSMAN VISITS THE PRESIDENT

Washington, July 28.—Victor Berger, the Socialist Congressman from Wisconsin, paid his first visit to the White House to-day. He asked the President to pardon a Texas youth, Dewey Carter, of Beaumont.

Carter is serving a five-year sentence for stealing $5 while employed by the Post-office Department. Mr. Berger declared that children should not be employed by the Government.

President Taft will consider Carter's case. Mr. Berger also asked the President to take some action toward allowing letter carriers to perform their duties in their shirt sleeves. The President, Mr. Berger said, promised to act.

FIRST BLACK PIG SOCIETY FORMED AT LEXINGTON

Lexington, Ky., July 29.—The first society of its kind in America was organized in Lexington this afternoon when the only seven breeders of the Big Black Pig in this country met here and formed a society for the promotion and protection of the breeding of this strain of hog.

The Big Black Pig is the leading breed in England, where it has been popular for more than a hundred years. At present there are but seven breeders in the United States, and the aggregate number of hogs of this breed in America is estimated at 300.

Articles of incorporation, naming Lexington as the place of business, were filed this afternoon, and officers were elected as follows: J. W. Ringer, Calloway, Neb., president; C. H. Post, Parma, Mo., vice president; J. E. Cook, Lexington, secretary and treasurer. The incorporators are J. W. Ringer, C. H. Post, J. E. Cook, H. C. Barnett, Ohio; J. W. Richardson and J. C. Kern, Lexington.

crease in 1910 over 1909. There was the usual increase of the number of children and the usual increase in the total assessed valuation of the State for taxes, which of itself should have meant a small increase in the school per capita. In addition to the increase in assessed valuation, the State board of equalization made raises on the counties, which increased the total about 9 per cent. Still there was no increase in the school fund.

The increase in assessment for 1911 over 1910 is not so great as the increase of 1910 over 1909, still there is an increase of 40 cents in the school per capita.

Is it possible that the administration needed the increase which ought to have been made last year, and it was used in other channels and then turned back into the school fund along with the increase made this year, this being a campaign year, in order to have an affective campaign slogan?

The Republican nominees and spellbinders will have much to say about the big school per capita, a pet expression being: "Just look what this Republican administration has done for the free schools." There should be somebody present every time to ask the question: "Why was there no increase in 1910? How were you able to make so big an increase in 1911 when the tax assessment of 1911 affords no greater basis for an increase in 1911 than it did in 1910?"—[Owensboro Inquirer.]

A CO-OPERATIVE SCHEME BY SOCIETY OF EQUITY

New York, July 22.—The American Society of Equity to-day announced the proposed establishment of a co-operative town by the name of Co-Operator, in the Four Lakes region of Wisconsin. The development of the plan includes the operation of a strictly co-operative food manufacturing center.

The proposition is to interest from 50,000 to 1,000,000 co-operators, who will pay 10 cents a week. This will be sufficient to establish independent packing plants, grist mills, elevators, warehouses and cold-storage plants. With the intended investment it is estimated that the co-operators can go to the place and live in independence.

Printing the "News." Occasionally we are asked why we do not publish all that happens. It is fortunate for these particular individuals that discretion occasionally demands the omission of unpleasant items. Should we publish all that is told us, we would be with the angels in about 20 minutes after our papers were mailed. We try to print all items that are news, or that will encourage, help or cheer any of our citizens along life's rugged road. We all doubtless would enjoy reading "all the news" when it's about the other fellow, but we never cared to lend aid to the gossips in the spreading of scandals that only leave sorrows in their trail.

WATCH FOUND IN PAUNCH OF A LARGE ALLIGATOR

May Explain the Sudden Disappearance of a Little Florida Girl.

Forsyth, Ga., July 29.—The finding of a valuable gold watch and chain in the stomach of a large alligator that died in a pond near here to-night is believed to solve the mystery of the disappearance of twelve-year-old Janet Thornton from the home of her parents at Island Grove, Fla., two years ago.

The alligator was captured near Island Grove some weeks after the girl disappeared, and was brought to this place by J. M. Jackson. The little girl has never been heard from since she disappeared. When last seen she was standing on the bank of the lake where Jackson captured the alligator, and she was wearing at the time a gold watch of the Waltham make, with her initials engraved on the back of the watch.

The same initials are on the back of the watch discovered inside of the dead alligator. It is believed by Jackson and others that while the girl was playing on the bank of the lake the alligator came upon the bank and devoured her.

The parents of the girl have been notified, and the watch will be returned to them.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

"What kind of an answer is that?"

"Said she would give me six months to readjust myself so as to be acceptable."

DIAMOND CRAZE IN WYOMING IS FIERCE

Reported That the Land Formation Is Like That of Kimberley.

The Government Bureau of Mines has announced that the formation of the Big Horn Mountains, lying west of Sheridan, is such that diamonds in large quantities may be discovered in that section, and as a result Northern Wyoming is infected with the diamond fever.

Diamonds in the rough are not numerous in the Big Horn towns, and the would-be diamond prospectors are not sure what they are searching for—many of them having the idea that when taken from the ground diamonds are ready for the setting.

The information that diamonds may be found in the Big Horn came to Sheridan in a letter from E. Gillette, formerly State Treasurer of Wyoming, whose authority for the statement is H. N. Darton, of the Government Bureau of Mines. This bureau, under Mr. Darton's supervision, has been engaged in a study of the Big Horns, especially as regards the "black dykes," in those mountains.

It has been determined that the composition of these dykes is exactly the same as that of the black dykes of South Africa in which the great diamond mines of that country are located. In South Africa these dykes come from far down in the earth, and are like chimneys filled with clay. Similar formations are found in the Big Horn Mountains, but it remained for the mine experts to make exhaustive analysis of the contents of the dykes. The announcement that diamonds may be found in the mountains followed the work of the bureau.

Immediately after the information was made public every old prospector in the district prepared to go diamond mining.—[Sheridan (Wyo.) Cor. New York Herald.]

SENATOR MCCREARY'S PLEA IN BEHALF OF OLD SOLDIERS

How former Gov. McCreary, while a member of the United States Senate, made an eloquent plea behind closed doors, beyond the ears of newspaper men, in favor of a pension for a widow of a Federal soldier, was told by Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, in his remarks to the Senate in support of the motion to keep on the Senate pay-roll Jim Jones, the aged negro who was the bodyguard of Jefferson Davis.

In his tribute to Senator McCreary and other Confederates who have served in Congress in recent years, Senator Smith said:

"I have been in public life in this Capitol for nearly seventeen years, during which time I have served with many men who fought in the rebellion against this Government. During all that time, Mr. President, some of which was spent as a member of the Committee on Pensions, I have never known a Southern soldier who fought on the side of the Confederacy to object to a pension for a worthy Union soldier. The most eloquent plea I ever heard for a widow's pension was made by the former Senator from Kentucky, Mr. McCreary, a Southern soldier, behind committee doors, where it was not for public effect.

CONFEDERATE MONEY IS STILL OF SOME VALUE

It is interesting to know that after the civil war has been over for nearly a half century and the government of "The Confederate States of America" has not been marked on a single map of the world, that the currency issued by it during those troublesome times is still of value, going at ninety per cent. discount. This is illustrated by a case that occurred down at McMinnville, Tennessee, the other day or rather night. A thief broke into a store, got into the money safe and carried away $1,000 in the currency of the defunct government, leaving at the same time $100 in good United States money. So you see that the presence of that $1,000 caused the thief to overlook the good money, hence it was worth just ten per cent. on the dollar to the man whose store was robbed.

No Reason to Kick.

We can see no reason for denouncing Caleb Powers for assisting in the turning down at the Republican State Convention of Gov. Willson, who pardoned him. Willson could never have secured the Republican nomination for Governor in 1907 without promising to do it, and it was simply the carrying out of an agreement. Certainly Willson deserves no credit or gratitude for carrying out his part of the agreement, and Caleb the Killer owes him nothing.—[Todd County Times.]

A BACHELOR GIRL'S REFLECTIONS.

A husband is sometimes an agreeable distraction from serious things, even in the life of a modern woman.

When a woman expresses an intelligent opinion, it somehow has the same uncanny effect on a man as when a pet parrot happens to say the right thing at the right moment.

The best illustration of the difference between an idealist and a materialist is that to one Bermuda suggests lilies, to the other nothing but onions.

A cup of coffee and a soft boiled egg will work a greater miracle in a husband's disposition at 8 a. m. than wireless telegraphy has worked in modern civilization.

In the matter of numbers, women may predominate; but as long as they continue to scrap among themselves, men will continue to dominate.

There comes a time in the life of every woman when she yearns for sentiment, and neither her love of art nor the adoration of a pet poodle seems quite to take the place of a husband.

Life without love is as insipid as spaghetti without cheese.

It takes tact to get a man attached to you and genius to get him detached.

A man's idea of the ethics of flirtation is a lie for a lie, and a fig for the truth.

As long as a man is poor he is contented with the same old wife; but as soon as he begins to change his coat every evening for dinner, he seems to want to change his affections along with it.

SMOKING IN THE DARK NOT VERY SATISFACTORY

Funny thing about smoking! If a man were compelled to puff a good cigar with his eyes shut, the operation would lose its zest. A man who had undergone a slight operation upon one of his eyes had to stay in a darkened room for a week with his optics bandaged. After a few days his doctor told him he could take a gentle smoke if he liked. He jumped at the chance, and to his amazement found it afforded him not the slightest pleasure. To be sure, men often smoke in the dark, but there's always the rosy glow of the lighted end to be seen and the faint outline of the cloud of smoke in the air. There's no more fun in a sightless smoke than a saltless egg or a kiss implanted upon your own hand. What's the psychology of it?

SWAMPED IN A TERRIFIC GALEMother and Babe Were Lashed to Ship.

RESCUED AFTER MANY HOURS

Awful Experience of Crew of a Small Water-Logged Vessel.

MANY YACHTS WERE WRECKED

Boston, Mass., July 29.—Mrs. Jennie Mazerill and her thirteen-months-old baby were saved from the water-logged schooner N. E. Ayer, off Highland Light, early today, after lying for 12 hours lashed to the quarter deck, with waves breaking over them every moment.

They were taken off and brought into Boston by the steamer Bunker Hill, while the woman's husband, Captain A. B. Mazerill, and his crew of four stayed by the wrecked schooner and were taken off later by the revenue cutter Gresham.

"I never expected to get to shore," said Mrs. Mazerill in the cabin of the Bunker Hill, with her baby tucked in her arms. "All night we expected to perish every minute. All yesterday the old schooner was wallowing in a heavy sea, beaten by a fearful storm of wind and rain. As night came on the storm grew worse. The ship was leaking badly. Then there came an awful crash and both masts went overboard."

"The vessel settled to the level of the water. My husband and the crew took the baby and me and lashed us on top of the afterhouse. The waves swept over us constantly. Sometimes we could scarcely breathe. Then the lashings that held us on the afterhouse broke. We would have been carried overboard if two of the men had not held us. My husband made the ropes fast again. They broke once more, and then he took us onto the quarter deck and lashed me there. "But at last day came. The water was calmer. Then we saw the steamer. She saw our signals and stood by. The crew bailed out a boat and my husband said I must go on the ship with the baby. When we got to the steamer I think I fainted. I do not see how we are alive now. I am so weak I cannot talk much, but my baby is all right, so I am happy."

Each hour to-day brought succeeding reports of shipwreck, disaster and loss of life along the New England coast yesterday, from West Indian hurricanes.

At noon to-day, four coast-wise sailing vessels were fast on the rocks and beaches, or helpless adrift off the coast, while from Cape Cod to Bar Harbor there was scarcely a harbor that did not show disabled yachts.

ALL STOWAWAY RECORDS
WERE BROKEN AT COLON

Washington, July 29.—All stow-away records were smashed when the Royal Mail Liner Atrato recently arrived at Colon with 65 West Indian negroes, who had secreted themselves aboard to secure free passage to the Isthmus, where the attractiveness of work on the Panama Canal had lured them.

Some 50 of the men had stolen aboard at Trinidad and the others at Barbados.

The Isthmian authorities were surprised when the extraordinary free passenger list was reported to them by the angry steamship captain, who was made to give a bond of $6,500, as none of the stowaways had the $15 required to permit them to land.

While being transferred to shore, seven of the men escaped and the steamship company forfeited $700. The remaining 58, after being held under police surveillance for several days, were given employment by the Canal Commission.

STARVING CHILD RUN
OVER BY A STREET CAR

New York, July 30.—Three-year-old Morris Goldberg, weakened by a seven-days' fast, was run over by a trolley car in front of his home to-day.

Two thousand persons thereupon stormed the car, captured the motorman and conductor, laid them on the tracks and were about to run the car over them when a lone policeman seized the ringleader at the controller. Reserves then dispersed the mob.

It was ascertained later that the entire Goldberg family of nine were in a starving condition.

REMAINS FOUND IN BATTLESHIP MAINEPlaced Under Military Guard
—Formal Exercises Will Be Held Later.

Havana, July 29.—With no ceremony, 17 bodies so far recovered from the wreck of the Maine were taken to Cabanas fortress this afternoon and placed under military guard, to await the arrival of others, for which the engineers are now searching. These bones, sealed in four metal coffins, were delivered into the custody of Captain Golderman, U. S. A., instructor of Coast Artillery, and Colonel Pujol, the Cabanas commandante, detailed a guard of four men.

When all the bodies are recovered, formal exercises will be held and their delivery on board the Leonides will be marked by a salute from the Cabanas, Morro, La Punta and Santa Clara batteries. This will be done at the special request of the Cuban Government. The bodies were taken to-day on board a barge, and every attempt was made to keep the removal quiet.

A view of Captain Sigbee's quarters and the berth deck below the Captain's cabin, which now is being cleaned out by hydraulic streams, is now had. The ceiling, woodwork and such furniture as remains are covered by barnacles and oysters. The table from the ward-room mess is eaten apart, but the elaborate carving and inlaying are still visible.

The mud is nearly all removed from the berth deck, and the engineers are somewhat disappointed not to find Darwin Merritt's body.

Half the working force was laid off this afternoon, as Major Ferguson thinks the cofferdam does not need such careful attention. There was no work this afternoon and will be none to-morrow, but the cleaning and removal of mud will begin again on Monday.
